

BOARD OF HEALTH

An Interesting Meeting Held Yesterday Afternoon.

THE STORM COMMITTEE TO CON-SULT WITH THE EXECU-TIVE.

Nineteen More Lepers Condemned—Reports of Committees—Business Attended to and Left Over, Etc.

The board of health met Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

There were present President W.
O. Smith, Dr. Andrews, John Ena, J. T. Waterhouse, Jr., Theo. F. Lansing, and Agents W. R. Meyers and C. B. Reynolds.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and after correction in minor matters were approved.

President Smith announced that as representatives of Hollister & Co. and Hobron, Newman & Co. were present he thought it desirable to open the bids for supplying the board of health with drugs for the coming year.

The bids were opened and read.
They were long and covered some four hundred items aggregating $2500.

After discussion they were referred to Executive Officer Reynolds and Secretary Wilcox for consideration with instructions to refer any disagreement on details to Dr. Andrews.

The minutes of the special meeting held regarding the alleged case of measles imported by the steamer Mariposa were read and approved.

The president reported there was no further occasion for the quarantine guards stationed at Sans Souci and that they had been withdrawn.

Under reports of committees the committee appointed to investigate the condition of the government store at the leper settlement reported through Mr. Theo. F. Lansing, who said it was desirable to so arrange the conduct of the store that Mr.
Meyers could be relieved of certain financial responsibilities. He mentioned that ration bills to the amount of some $4800 were now payable, and made several suggestions from a business standpoint which were discussed at length. A proposition to authorize Mr. Meyers to purchase $5000 worth of goods on the account of the board of health was considered.

President Smith pointed out a probable conflict between such a course and the terms of the appropriation bill, and suggested that a new set might become necessary to avoid the difficulty.

Mr. Lansing said, as a business proposition it would be unwise to hamper the purchase of goods for the settlement store by calling for bids, as provided by law.

President Smith suggested that the committee meet the executive council at 11 o'clock this morning to consider the matter. Approved.

Dr. Andrews reported from the committee on the vaccine farm that another inoculation had been made on a heifer at the farm which had proved a failure, as those before.
The inoculation had been made by Mr. Meyers with points brought down from the Molokai ranch. He stated that fresh lymph was expected by the incoming steamer, and that the committee would continue its experiments.

A petition of a native to go to Molokai as a kokua to his wife was dismissed on the ground that the woman had been declared free from leprosy.
Two letters were read from Sheriff Wilcox relating to the details of the capture of the eleven lepers on Kanai, in which he spoke very highly of policeman Kikina, who made the capture.

The application of Mrs. Kikina to go as a kokua to her daughter and two other leper girls was brought up.

After considerable discussion it was decided that Mrs. Kikina would be allowed to accompany her daughter to the settlement and see her comfortably settled in the girls' home, and to return by the next boat.

President Smith was ordered to give a commission to Kikina as an agent of the board of health.

A letter was read from Wm. Not-ley asking for a permit for his wife to be allowed to leave the settlement for six months on account of her health, with the privilege of returning thereto, the permit to be void at the end of the time specified.

Mr. Meyers favored the petition, and stated that he did not think such action upon the doctor's orders established a precedent.

On motion of Mr. Waterhouse, the permit was granted.

A letter was read from Rev. S. K.

Kamakahi in answer to inquiries, stating that his wife had given birth to a child recently, and that they had five other children.

Consideration of the question was deferred, awaiting the return of the Rev. O. P. Emerson, who made the application for the Rev. Kamakahi to go to Molokai as Protestant pastor.

The president read the report of Inspector Jones, which showed the law was being carried out under the act to mitigate, and that the hog ranches were in a good condition, although the stock on hand was light.
The animals were in good condition.
There has been a large quantity of fish in the market during the week, but one complaint has been made as to the quality furnished.

The executive officer presented a list of nineteen lepers examined and condemned by the board of examining physicians. The list was carefully scanned and upon motion it was ordered they be forwarded to Molokai by the steamer Mokolihi next Monday.

In speaking of the construction of the proposed new reservoir at the leper settlement President Smith said he had consulted Superintendent Rowell, of the public works bureau, and that he had made several practical suggestions regarding the water supply at the settlement, which he repeated to the board.

Mr. Meyers thought some one should be sent up to investigate the matter. At the suggestion of President Smith he said he would see Mr.
Rowell and talk the matter over.

President Smith said he thought while good weather lasted some effort should be made to transfer the 1100 feet of iron pipe now lying at Waikolu some three miles from Kalanapapa. It was the opinion of the board that the new reservoirs, when constructed, should be covered.

Mr. Ena said he wished to bring up the matter of measles, discussed in special session. He thought that reports on contagious diseases should be made in writing within twenty-four hours from the time such were discovered by licensed physicians.

After considerable discussion action was deferred until the next regular meeting.

Mr. Meyers reported that Dr. Goto asked for eight more iron bedsteads, which were ordered to be supplied.

At 4:45 p. m. the board adjourned.

A CHINESE BURGLAR.

He Enters the Premises of Mr.
Christly and is Severely Bitten by a Mastiff.

Mr. Tom Christly, who resides on upper Fort street, is the owner of a large mastiff dog. Last night about 10:30 o'clock the dog was heard barking in the rear of the premises, and Mr. Christly went out to see what was the matter. The dog ran to the door of a barn in the yard and began scratching upon it. On opening the door a Chinaman sprang out and started to run, but was caught by Mr. Christly. During the scuffle which ensued, the Chinaman managed to scratch Mr. Christly on the face and hands and broke loose from him. The dog took a hand in the fight at this juncture, and as the end proved, did yeoman's service. The Chinaman's clothes were almost completely torn from his body by the mastiff, and he was bitten severely on the left leg and breast. When the police arrived on the scene the Chinaman was found lying on the ground, with the dog on one side and Mr.
Christly on the other.

The Chinaman entered the barn for the purpose of robbery, and had a number of empty sacks piled up ready to take. The mastiff discovered the presence of the Celestial by scent, for which that breed of dog is so noted. When the would-be burglar heard the dog approach the barn he closed the door and attempted to lock it, but failed. At the police station the Chinaman gave the name of Ah Lin.

Noted Through Passenger.

There were several prominent passengers aboard the Oceanic en route to the coast. Among these were Mr. O. Von der Hyde, who is well known as a representative of a large commercial firm in Hongkong. He was formerly German consul-general in New Zealand, and for some time agent of the North-German Lloyd Steamship Company in Australia. Mr. Von der Hyde was shown around the city Tuesday by Messrs. G. W.
Macfarlane and H. A. Widemann, and lunched at the latter's residence. Mr. Von der Hyde is dis-tantly connected by marriage to Mr. Macfarlane, having married a Miss Henderson, of Australia.

"It is a pleasure to sell Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Stickney & Dentler, druggists, Republic, Ohio, "because a customer after once using it, is almost certain to call for it when again in need of such a medicine. We sell more of it than of any other cough medicine we handle, and it always gives satisfaction." For coughs, colds and croup it is without an equal. For sale by all dealers.

A SCOT TO SCOTS.

MR. R. L. STEVENSON TALKS
TO HIS COUNTRYMEN.

SCOTTISH HISTORY IN BRIEF.

The Distinguished Novelist is Chary

With His Remarks, But Interesting Withal.

The rooms of the Scottish Thistle club were crowded Wednesday p. m. with an enthusiastic audience, who had come to hear one of the most prominent Scotchmen of today in the literary world. Robert Louis Stevenson, who is to Scotland what Kipling is to India, gave the members of the club and their friends a short talk on Scottish history.

Mr. Stevenson is a man of distinct personality. To see him one would not think him a canny Scot, but rather a cosmopolitan, a citizen of any country in which he makes his residence. But as soon as he commences to speak one immediately knows that he owes his being to the land of a thousand lochs and ten thousand braes of heather.

In appearance Mr. Stevenson is not a striking man. He has a nervous air, with slightly womanish manners and gestures. He wore that evening a most unconventional suit of brown corduroy, flannel shirt and red sash. But as soon as he commenced to speak, all his peculiarities of manner and tongue were lost sight of in his intensely interesting talk and his pure English.

His subject was a short resume of Scottish history. He did not try to give a connected account of the trials of his native land, but what he said was clear-cut, and concise.

I am not a public speaker, and do not want to be. I have made up my mind, after some years of semi-public life, that there is nothing that perverts the public mind more than a professional public speaker, but I could not refuse my "Brither Scots" when they so kindly asked me to speak at their meeting.

We are all proud to be Scotchmen, why, I know not. Our country is not so beautiful, nor our climate so fascinating that one should care for it, but we love it, all of us, with an undying love.

Our history is a series of internal and external strife. We have been at war, principally among ourselves, ever since Scotland has been known as a country.
Our public men have been rogues, in a certain sense, principally politically. I am now living in Sa-mos, where we are all politicians.
You are all living in Hawaii, where you are all politicians, and I have formed the idea that most politicians are rogues—politically.
Bruce, was a politician.

Mary Queen of Scots was a prominent feature in our history.
I have always had a foible for Mary. She was such a good fellow, though she would try to blow up her husband once in a while.

To John Knox we owe those centuries of education, which have given us the precedence over so many countries. He has a place in the hearts of all loyal Scots, and his memory will be kept green years after all of us have gone.

The revolution of '45 had only one bright spot. This was the loyalty of all Scotchmen, rich and poor, to Bonnie Prince Charlie.
That he could have been hidden by his countrymen for so long a time, with such a price on his head as would have made any of the thousands of starving men rich for life, was a test that few countries could have and withstand the temptation to give him up to his enemies.

There is very little in Scotch history that does not show that race as cruel, belligerent and unfeeling, but the country has produced men of great manliness, good nature and feeling. There is one that is all in all to me. I mean Walter Scott.
All good Scotchmen should read of his beautiful and pathetic life and nature, for there was never a better representative to hold up the honor of his country than he.

I received a book the other day, dedicated to me. Among other things the author says, speaking of Scotland:

"Where, about the graves of the martyrs, the whaups are crying, he remembers how."

I read it with a gulp. The thought struck me that if I should die out here in these Pacific islands, so far from my native land, that I would lose my rightful grave. My place after death is under the heather, and I "remembered how."

After Mr. Stevenson's talk he was introduced personally to many of those present, and a vote of thanks by the club was given by acclamation.

Rather an amusing incident closed the evening's entertainment.
Mr. Lindsay, the chairman, proposed that the club, as is its custom, close the evening by singing the doxology. This is, in Scottish parlance that good old highland ballad, Auld Lang Syne. But Mr. W. F. Reynolds who was playing an accompaniment, started, with true British fervor, to sing the orthodox "Praise God from whom all blessings flow." He was immediately taken in hand by several of the members, and the Scotch music spread before him to prevent further mistake.

Prominent Visitor.

Among the arrivals by the steamship Oceanic Monday evening was Mr. D. C. Leisse, who is a representative of the well-known firm of John Fowler & Son, England. Mr.
Leisse has been making a tour of the world, and during the past two years has visited the principal sugar countries of the world in the interest of his firm. He will remain here for a couple of weeks, during which time he will visit Ewa, Waianae and Makaweli plantations, sailing for home by the next Australia.

The Skerrett Robbery.

The circumstances in connection with the robbery of Admiral Skerrett's apartments at the Hawaiian hotel some time ago, are still fresh in the minds of the public. It will be remembered that the matter was placed in the hands of Detective Larsen, who secured evidence in a short time that the robbery was committed by an Australia crook, who was a passenger by the steamer Warrimoo to British Columbia, that vessel being in port at the time it occurred. This information has been verified by the steward of the Warrimoo, who saw the person described wearing some of the stolen jewelry on the passage to British Columbia.

Where He Lives.

Several pages of the London Illustrated News of August 19, 1893, were occupied with an illustrated description of Clumber Park, the seat of the Duke of Newcastle who left here two months ago for the Orient. A good likeness of the duke also appears in that issue. The castle of the Duke of Newcastle was built in 1767, the walls, pillars and gallery being entirely of marble.

Turned Up at San Diego.

John Ahia, a wandering Hawaiian youth, was last heard from at San Diego, Cal. In a letter to friends here, dated Sept. 1st, he stated he was employed by Mr.
Hamilton Johnson, formerly of this city, in the fishing business. He claimed to be the champion sur-fider of California, although he admitted that he was of no account in Hawaii nei. Ahia intends going to New York next year.

Mr. and Mrs. Herter, artists, from New York, were through passengers by the steamer Oceanic.

"German Syrup"

The majority of well-read physicians now believe that Consumption is a germ disease. In other words, instead of being in the constitution itself it is caused by innumerable small creatures living in the lungs having no business there and eating them away as caterpillars do the leaves of trees.

A Germ Disease. The phlegm that is coughed up is those parts of the lungs which have been gnawed off and destroyed. These little bacilli, as the germs are called, are too small to be seen with the naked eye, but they are very much alive just the same, and enter the body in our food, in the air we breathe, and through the pores of the skin. Thence they get into the blood and finally arrive at the lungs where they fasten and increase with frightful rapidity. Then German Syrup comes in, loosens them, kills them, expels them, heals the places they leave, and so nourish and soothe that, in a short time consump-tions become germ-proof and well.
